

Preventing the Symptoms of

The Common

Exotic Flu

By

Brian David Andersen

Is the biological and human health disaster that occurred during the late 19th century in the jungles of Central America being repeated on a global scale in Mexico and Southeast Asia in the early 21st century? What lessons have been ignored from the health disaster that occurred in the Isthmus of Panama or the thin strip of land connecting the North and South American Continents? Also how do the deaths of 22,000 humans in the jungle of Central America from 1880 to 1900 have an application on a smaller scale to your human body and optimum and balanced health?

Investigating and answering these questions thereby connecting the dots related to these questions provides the reader an important insight and perspective. The pivotal awareness of what occurred in the jungle of Central America opens a pathway for the reader on how to take preventative steps to ward-off the symptoms of high fever and respiratory distress associated with the condition known as the flu.

The Vatican and European nobility were aware by the early 15th century that a canal needed to be constructed somewhere in Central America so sailing vessels would have a direct access to the West Coast of the North and South American continents. Without a canal all merchant marine activities had to be routed around and through the treacherous waters between the South American Continent and the South Pole. French entrepreneurs, corporations and engineers determined the optimum location for canal was a small piece of tropical jungle between the North and South American continents that was owned by the country of Columbia.

Construction of a canal began 1880 and over the next 20 years the French created an absolute and unmitigated failure and disaster on every level of the effort and operation. Over 22,000 French workers and local citizens died from high fevers, shivering, vomiting, convulsions, internal bleeding, headaches, jaundice, slow heart beat, joint pain, anemia, kidney damage, delirium and coma. These symptoms were given the names of malaria and yellow fever. Interestingly, before the French arrived, the local Columbian citizens did not suffer from the above maladies. And even more interesting, the American work force that replaced the Frenchmen in 1903 to complete the construction of the canal initially suffered the above maladies but then the negative health conditions ceased altogether.

What did the French do or not do that the local Columbian citizens and the Americans did or did not do? Neither the reader nor Mr. Watson need to ask Sherlock Holmes to answer this rudimentary question. The French dumped all of their paper, metal, wood, human and kitchen wastes into the normally free flowing pools, creeks and streams around the worksite. Within a year of the French arrival, the sewer clogged pools, creeks and streams became highly toxic and deadly pits of disaster. The key aspect of the constant dumping of human and kitchen waste into the stagnant pools, creeks and streams was the high concentration of the toxins in the water. Because the water was either stagnant or flowing at a very slow pace, the percentage of toxins present in the water were, at the very least, equal to and, at the very most, higher than the normal chemical elements of Hydrogen and Oxygen in the water. However, had the pools, creeks and streams been flowing at their normal rate and not dammed by the large solid wastes dumped into the water by the French, the percentage of toxins would have been much less.

The condition of stagnation allowed the toxins to build to their highest percentage levels. Does the water in a new and unused human toilet bowl grow biological organism such as bacteria and viruses? Definitely not. Biological organisms only grow and flourish in the stagnant water of a toilet that has not been flushed with fresh water and containing human waste. Biological organisms cannot grow in fresh running and flowing water. By 1883, the pools, creeks and streams of the Isthmus of Panama had become one big toilet bowl in need of rapidly-flowing gargantuan flushes. The growth and presence of biological organisms are symptoms and not causes of stagnant waste water.

Before the French arrived the female mosquito labeled as Anopheles landed in the fresh water creeks and streams before departing to draw blood from animals and humans. However, the local food sources for the human population of the Isthmus of Panama most likely contained substances that made most human blood unattractive to the female Anopheles mosquito. When the mosquitoes did draw blood from a human, the only substance on their bodies was the fresh and flowing waters of the pools, creeks and streams. The only symptom a human would and does have from a mosquito that has had contact with fresh flowing water is an annoying bump on the skin where the needle-like spear of the insect has punctured through to the blood vessel.

The French did not notify the mosquitoes or any insect species that their natural-water landing grounds were significantly contaminated with high concentrations of toxins. But even if the French had alerted the mosquitoes, they and all the other insect species would have continued to come in contact with liquids in the pools, creeks and streams. The toxins placed into the pools, creeks and streams did not also contain the local natural food sources that repel the mosquitoes, thus the flying insects wallowed in the muck and goo with no side effects to their biological systems.

The mosquitoes in the Isthmus of Panama during the late 19th century landed on toxic pits with stagnated water created by the French. After departing the polluted and stagnant waters, the next stops for the female Anopheles mosquitoes were moving "bags of water." The water flowing inside of these mobile "bags of water" was almost but not quite stagnant. The name for these mobile "bags of stagnant water" is homo sapiens or human beings with the subcategory label of "French."

The natives of France who migrated to the jungle of Central America in the late 19th century did not adapt their diet and cooking methods to the local food sources therefore their blood was very attractive to the female Anopheles mosquito. Local citizens of the Isthmus of Panama who adopted the French diet also became attractive to the mosquitoes. The French diet and lifestyle with high fats, sugars, caffeine, nicotine and alcohol promoted the condition of improper water hydration or outright dehydration. The French in the 19th century, like so many persons in the 21st century, were not aware that one must drink fresh pure water to flush out the stagnant water within one's body.

Today a majority of the human population believes the only important aspect of improper water hydration or dehydration is the lack of water. The second most important aspect of improper water hydration and dehydration is the stagnation of the water caused by the reduced flow of the water within the bag of water called a human being. The symptoms of stagnated water in a toilet in need of flushing or a mobile bag of water called a human being are the initiation and growth of biological organisms.

No stagnant water = No biological organisms

Rapidly flowing fresh water = No biological organisms

Biological organisms only exist in a type of water that is in a stagnant and toxic state

After the highly contaminated female Anopheles mosquito departed the toxic pits in the clogged pools, creeks and streams, they landed on another stagnant water pit that did not contain toxic chemicals called homo-sapiens. As the needle-like projectile of the mosquito penetrated the skin and entered a blood vessel, the insect drew blood but most importantly they unintentionally deposited a highly concentrated and contaminated dose of toxins into the blood stream.

Therefore the Frenchmen, who dumped their wastes into the pools, creeks and streams of Central America, became extensions of their liquid trash pits they created as the concentrated toxins deposited by the mosquitoes spread throughout their bodies that were filled with stagnant water. Biological organisms such as bacteria and viruses proliferated in the stagnant water of the Frenchmen. Like the pieces of metal and wood in the pools, creeks and streams of the Central American jungle, the proliferating biological organisms in the blood vessels and tissues further impeded the needed and proper flow of liquids in the body.

The moral of this story: What goes around, comes around -- both metaphorically and literally.

The very few Frenchmen who intuitively drank proper amounts of water, flushed the toxins and the accompanying biological organisms from their bodies. The moving water within their bodies did not allow the toxins and biological organisms to disrupt the functions of the various cells in their bodies. Hence, those individuals either had no symptoms or experienced mild symptoms of fever, vomiting, diarrhea, headaches, internal bleeding etc. Also any human who is not properly hydrated or is outright dehydrated while carrying toxins and biological organisms in their water stagnant bodies are the perfect carriers and transmitters. The toxins and biological organisms exude from their sweat glands, saliva and the fine mists generated from coughing and sneezing. However, the dehydrated, water stagnated and contaminated carriers are only a threat to other "bags of water" (humans) that have reduced water flow and stagnated water in their tissues. The dehydrated, water stagnated and contaminated carriers do not pose a threat to "bags of water" (humans) that are properly hydrated and have water rapidly flowing through their bodies.

A guidepost for proper hydration is one's urine is not quite but almost clear and does not have pungent odor. The darker the urine and the more pungent the odor - the more one is dehydrated. Regretfully most of the humans on planet Earth are excreting mid to dark yellow pungently smelling urine as their bodies are full of stagnant water thus waiting vessels for various kinds of toxins and biological organisms.

But what biological dynamics occurred in those persons who were not properly hydrated or outright dehydrated? In the late 1990s, traditional-trained scientists discovered that every human, animal and plant cell is covered with a sheath of the chemical element named Phosphorous. The Phosphorous sheath surrounding a biological cell functions as a regulated gatekeeper for substances entering into the inner components and dynamics of a biological cell. In 2009, traditionally-trained virologists and scientists have not published any scientific papers on how biological organisms even interact with a Phosphorous sheath nevertheless how bacteria or viruses disturb or breakthrough a Phosphorous sheath. However, an analysis of the chemical element of Phosphorous gives us insight on how to logically determine the biological dynamics that occur when a cell's Phosphorous sheath is either supported or disrupted.

Phosphorous is the 15th chemical element on the traditional table of the chemical elements. A Phosphorous sheath also covers the human organ known as the nervous system. The substance known as DNA is made mostly of Phosphorous. The cellular component named the Mitochondria is made from compounds of Phosphorous. A special kind of Phosphorous compound can absorb light particles from the Sun or a lamp and transmute the light particles into a different wave length of light. This ability is known as Phosphorescent or Fluorescent or possessing an inner light source.

When Phosphorous is isolated with no other chemical elements present, this dynamic element makes a hissing noise and disappears from this dimension. Phosphorous can only maintain a presence in this dimension by compounding with another chemical element. Interestingly, the Phosphorous compounds in DNA, the Mitochondria and the sheaths surrounding biological cells and the nervous system have just enough of the chemical element of Oxygen so the Phosphorous remains in this dimension. The tenuous balance between the Phosphorous and Oxygen around, and in, a biological cell is critical to the life and maximum function of the cell.

Structured distilled water with only the chemical elements of Hydrogen and Oxygen completely and utterly support the Phosphorous sheaths surrounding biological life forms. Toxins with chemical elements such as Arsenic, Lead, Mercury, Uranium, etc. will disrupt the delicate balance of the Phosphorous and Oxygen in the sheaths surrounding a biological cell. High doses of toxins can cause immediate disruption or poisoning but the doses deposited by a contaminated mosquito in a human body that is not properly hydrated can take several days to disrupt the Phosphorous sheaths. However, once the toxins have imbalanced the Phosphorous sheaths on enough cells, flushing the toxins and biological organisms with fresh water is mostly ineffective. Proper water hydration is a pivotal preventative step but most often is not a means of recovering or curing a person once a certain threshold of Phosphorous sheaths have been imbalanced by the toxins.

A human body that is not properly hydrated or outright dehydrated will automatically use heat to remove the toxins hence the first symptom is a fever. But some forms of the flu do not have high fever. The most sensitive, tenuous and delicate Phosphorous sheaths in the human body are located in the lungs therefore the next symptom is the breathing of individual is impaired. As the Phosphorous sheaths are imbalanced at various locations in the body, symptoms such as headaches, internal bleeding, diarrhea and vomiting will occur.

The very first objective for the Americans when they took over the construction of the Panama Canal in 1903 was to blow-out and clean up the toxic pits. The arduous effort returned fresh water flow to the pools, creeks and streams, thus the toxins engulfing the work and living areas were flushed out. The Americans also cut the brush and grass surrounding pools and also poured oil into the pools to reduce the mosquito population. Further, the Americans installed metal screens on all doors and windows of buildings. And finally, the Americans provided copious amounts of quinine water to any and all persons living in the Isthmus of Panama.

Quinine water is made from the bark of the Quinquina tree. The website WiseGeeks states:

"Because of its physical properties, quinine becomes fluorescent when exposed to ultraviolet light. This means that quinine water, placed under an ultraviolet light, will glow as though it has its own internal light. In fact, quinine is so sensitive that it will turn slightly fluorescent even when exposed to normal sunlight..."

The fluorescent state of Quinine water indicates it is loaded with the chemical element of Phosphorous therefore drinking the glowing nectar returns and/or strengthens balance and proper function to the Phosphorous sheaths surrounding the cells of the body. Wonder of all wonders, golly and gee whiz -- the Americans did not get sick and die by 1908 while finishing the construction of the Panama Canal.

A similar disaster was created when the soldiers of World War I were continually exposed to toxic chemical weapons. The initial waves of chemicals made the soldiers sick but as the poisoning episodes continued their bodies developed high tolerances to the chemicals. When the conflict ended the highly-contaminated, dehydrated and water-stagnant soldiers returned home to their dehydrated and water-stagnant families who did not have the built-up tolerance levels to the chemicals. A thorough statistical study has revealed that most of the Americans who died in the Flu Pandemic of 1918 were actually the relatives of soldiers returning from the toxic and contaminated battlefields of France and Germany.

Another disaster occurred after the United States contaminated most of the air in the North American continent with above ground nuclear bomb tests. High radiation doses blanketed the dehydrated and water-stagnant human population for about 15 years. The Uranium based toxins disrupted the various Phosphorous sheaths in the organs of millions of individuals. Each bodily contamination was unique therefore the maladies manifested in different forms, but again, the radiation poisoning, like most contaminants, disrupted the delicate Phosphorous sheaths in the lungs. The disease outbreak known as Polio, caused by radiation poisoning and dehydration was responsible for the deployment of a device known as the "Iron Lung." The radiation toxins caused the dehydrated bodies to initiate and grow biological organisms such as bacteria and viruses. No radiation toxins and no dehydrated bodies equals no biological organisms.

The combination of various kinds of stagnant water, toxins, radiation and dehydration were the causes of the health disaster in Panama, the 1918 Pandemic in America, and the Polio crisis in the 1950s. The toxins also included the poisonous chemical element of Mercury in various kinds of vaccines. The initiation and growth of biological organisms such as bacteria and viruses were the symptoms of the dehydration, stagnant water and the various toxins inside millions of individuals.

Horrifyingly the small and contained health disaster by the French in the jungles of Central America in 1880 has now been duplicated on a very grand and humongous scale in the country of Mexico and the region of Southeast Asia and southern China by American and European corporations.

Numerous industries such corporate swine farms had strict guidelines regarding waste management while operating in the United States. The North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) allowed the corporations to move to Mexico while fully knowing that Mexican laws did not require strict waste management. "Swine swamps" with massive stagnant pools of pig feces, dead carcasses and pesticides now dot and blight the countryside of Mexico. The out-of-control corporate pig farms are only just a small portion of the toxins being dumped by the lethal league of American corporations on Mexican soil. The deadly toxins are generating and growing exponentially.

The female Anopheles mosquito was the exclusive carrier of the human waste toxins in Panama but the dump sites in Mexico and Southeast Asia contain blended, synthesized and more powerful and deadly poisons. Transporting these lethal mixtures into human bodies is not limited to just a certain species of insect. Therefore, like the mosquitoes of Panama in 1880, the highly contaminated insect and rodent population is now depositing a swath of death and destruction on the dehydrated and water-stagnant citizens of Mexico.

The Frenchmen dying in the tropical jungle of Central America could only contaminate their fellow Frenchmen living in Panama. But, autos, ships and planes transport the "toxic bags of contaminated water" (human beings) to anywhere on the globe thus the current health disaster is not just confined to Mexico. Until Mexicans, Americans, Canadians and all of Earth's inhabitants demand the U.S. and European corporations clean up their mess, we are all figuratively and literally in deep do do. The same deadly business practices are being conducted in the countries of Southeast Asia and Southern China. And once more, the contaminated and toxic insects and rodents are also depositing a swath of death and destruction on the dehydrated and water-stagnant population of the Far East and beyond to any location on the Earth.

However, a vulnerable species that has been the most impacted by the poisoning of our environment by the corporations is avian or birds. But the corporation monster blames and uses birds and pigs as scapegoats for the health disaster of the early 21st Century and beyond. Placing emphasis and attention only on birds, pigs & viruses diverts the public from discovering and acting upon the true cause of environmental poisoning and pollution on the most massive scale in human history. As the contaminated insects and rodents of Mexico and Southeast Asia deposit toxins into the dehydrated "bags of water" (human beings), the corporate news media craftily chooses when to ramp-up or pull back on coverage of the deaths and sicknesses. The corporate news media uses the up-and-down waves of mass media coverage as a means of manipulating and instilling fear and panic in the public. But the waffling news media distractions and the frightened general public do not impact the flight and bite of the contaminated insects and rodents in Mexico and Southeast Asia.

Like the doughboys of World War I, persons over 45 years old have been exposed to a steady dose of environmental toxins over several generations. The nuclear bomb radiation poisons rained down on the baby boomers has dissipated since the mid-1960s. The continued exposures to low doses of chemicals have created high tolerance levels to chemicals within the bodies of the baby boomers and their parents. However, as the dehydrated and water-stagnant population under 40 years old is assaulted by the potent toxins from Mexico and Southeast Asia, their bodies do not have the tolerance levels of their parents and grandparents. A disaster is afoot.

The quinine in the water dispersed in Panama in the early 20th century had a concentration of about 300 parts per million. Today, one cannot purchase water with such a high level of quinine. However there are other compounds, herbs and substances that function in a similar or even superior manner as quinine. Beside proper water hydration, one can reap great benefits by consuming or absorbing colloidal silver, oil of oregano, and organic powdered licorice, cat's claw, shiitake mushrooms, St. John's Wort, lemon balm, olive leaf, astragalus, ginger, garlic, onion, eucalyptus, fulvic acid and quinine. All of these preparations and herbs promote the cleansing flushes of the blood vessels and tissues while also supporting the cellular Phosphorous sheaths. Bottom Line -- Prevention is the best medicine. Your prevention starts with that next glass of structured and pure distilled water and daily doses of herbs, oils and colloids.

Mike Adams of the Internet Website Natural News wrote the following on May 18, 2009 related to the Swine Flu and the Center for Disease Control (CDC).

"H1N1 influenza (swine flu) has spread beyond the ability of the CDC to track it, leading one of its health authorities (Daniel Jernigan) to admit that 100,000 Americans are likely already infected by the swine flu. The CDC has only "confirmed" 4,714 cases of the flu so far, but by its own admission, the CDC's testing lab is so hopelessly overloaded that it has all but abandoned trying to identify every case of swine flu. All it can do now is estimate the likely number of infections through statistical modeling. That modeling essentially says that swine flu is already at a pandemic stage, and it will eventually infect anywhere from one-third to one-half of the world population, depending on whose figures you believe."

But what entities infect the 100,000 victims? The CDC only zeroes in on the numbered virus H1N1 but does not mention whatsoever that viruses must have a toxic and stagnant water base to spawn, grow and reproduce. Does the CDC investigate, analyze and categorize the toxic chemical elements holding and supporting the viruses? If the CDC completes such tasks, they do not share their protocols, findings and results with the news media nor the general public. Why? Because such revelations would expose the corporate toxic waste pits in Mexico, Southeast Asia and other locations. But most likely the CDC does not make the effort to analyze the toxic and stagnant water base of any virus therefore keeping the public ignorant and dumb downed to protect corporate interests and murderous wrong doings.

The CDC, virologists and the traditional science community do not inform the public of what entity is truly and realistically responsible for the disrupting and unbalancing the Phosphorous sheath of a human cell. Why? Because there are no reliable and accurate scientific techniques, technologies or instruments that can determine and prove what entity (toxin or virus) is the responsible culprit for disrupting and harming any functions of a biological cell. Logic dictates that the tenuous Phosphorous and Oxygen compound of the sheath surrounding the cell would probably be disrupted by the chemical elements in toxins rather than the chemical elements in viruses.

Traditional science has proven that isolated chemical elements such as Arsenic, that do not contain viruses, cause havoc to the functions of the cell. Therefore the chief suspects in this Sherlock Holmes investigation into the causes of the symptoms of any kind of Flu are chemical elements rather than viruses. Professional chemists can iron-clad prove the interactions of chemicals and how one chemical influences another chemical or a chemical compound. A human can visually track how Arsenic and other toxic chemicals react with a cell.

The theory and again the author emphasis the theory that viruses are the cause of diseases was postulated in the 1930s. A theory remains a theory and does not elevate to a scientific fact or a law until the theory is proven to be true by rigid traditional scientific methods. What rigid scientific methods have proven a virus influences, disrupts, or alters in any manner the cell's Phosphorous sheath? No such scientific proof exists to elevate the virus from the level of a theory to the level of a fact or law. But a learning junior high school chemistry student can thoroughly and completely demonstrate and prove chemical reactions.

The Americans completely wiped out fever, respiratory problems, vomiting, diarrhea, etc. without the virus theory, virologists, masks, antibiotics, antibodies and the CDC in Panama between 1903 to 1908. Every crucial step had something to do with controlling and administering chemicals and water such as flushing the toxic pools and dispensing quinine water. Humans must heed the lessons learned and duplicate the tried and true methods used during the Panama Canal crisis to identify the real problems and take the most direct and appropriate actions to eliminate the dire consequences.

North Carolina based corporation Smithfield Foods, a world leading pork producer and legally hounded by environmental groups in the U.S. courts, fled to the lax ecological laws in Mexico to reduce their costs generated by waste management. The Associated Press reported the following related to Smithfield's operations near the town of La Gloria in the mountains of Veracruz, Mexico on May 20, 2009:

"Scientists are returning next week to La Gloria, a pig-farming village in the Veracruz mountains where Mexico's earliest confirmed case of swine flu was identified. They hope to learn where the epidemic began by taking fresh blood samples from villagers and pigs, and looking for antibodies that could suggest exposure to previous swine flu infections...More than half of La Gloria's 3,000 residents fell ill with flu symptoms weeks before the new virus was identified. Many found it hard to breathe, burned with fever and ached all over. About 450 of the sickest residents were diagnosed with acute respiratory infections and sent home with antibiotics and masks."

The symptoms suffered by the residents of La Gloria are the identical symptoms experienced by the French workers building the Panama Canal between 1880 and 1900. Are the narrowly directed efforts to search for antibodies by the scientists another cover-up for the insects and rodents spreading the deadly toxins generated by the Smithfield Foods swine swamps? There does not seem to be any relief or resolution in sight as long as the American corporations are allowed to pollute, contaminate and poison the environment of Mexico at will with no regard for human life.

However there is now a safe and non-invasive method to support and cleanse human cells. Brian David Andersen has created an entire new way to absorb vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs into the body. As stated before a Phosphorous sheath envelopes every living biological cell. Andersen logically concluded that the only state of matter that transits through Phosphorous sheaths are light particles. All biological entities are simple yet profound vehicles of light particle transmutation and transformation.

The Phosphorous sheaths covering your cells function as light particle gatekeepers or regulators and only absorb the light particles emitting from the basic structures of the vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs. Your cells will only absorb the light particles of the chemical elements needed by the cells and all other light particles must be eliminated or removed from your body.

The vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs in whole and raw foods break down into basic structures that emit proper light particles that are absorbed at maximum levels into your cells. The fibers and materials not absorbed by your cells are easily eliminated and removed from your body with proper water hydration.

Vitamins, minerals and nutrients in pill, powder, gel and liquid forms that have been separated from whole and raw foods and ingested into the stomach and liver make inferior basic structures that emit improper light particles that are absorbed at minimum levels into your cells. Vitamin C in an orange fruit is absorbed by your cells at a maximum level. Vitamin C in a pill, powder or liquid form absorbs into your cells at a minimal level because your digestive system interprets the isolated and unnatural Vitamin C as a foreign and unknown substance. The materials in a Vitamin C pill or any other vitamin or mineral pill, powder, gel or liquid not absorbed into your cells are eliminated and removed with great difficulty from your body even with proper water hydration.

But what if the molecules of the chemical elements in a Vitamin C pill are vortex intensified in a very natural manner so the light particles are absorbed into your cells at a maximum level without you orally consuming the Vitamin C pill or any other vitamin, mineral, nutrient or herb? The light particles of the vortex intensified vitamins, minerals and nutrients would bypass the digestive system and not cause stress on the excretion systems while being eliminated from your body. Would you be interested in receiving proper and regulated light particles of vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs in pill, powder, gel or liquid forms with maximum absorption at tremendous cost savings and no stress on your body?

Introducing Vibrational Nutrition

Vitamins, minerals, nutrients and special kinds of herbs are placed in the Tri-Vortex Treatment Chamber have much different smell and taste from identical items not treated by the Tri-Vortex Chamber. The improved smell and taste of the treated vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs are an indication that the molecules are moving in a coherent manner. Previous to treatment by the novel Tri-Vortex Chamber, the molecules of the vitamins, mineral, nutrients and herbs were in chaos therefore they had a strong and pungent odor and taste. Your level of health, vitality and energy is dependent upon what degree the molecules in your water and solid food are functioning in a coherent structured and dynamic manner.

The Tri-Vortex Treatment Chamber uses one-of-a-kind graphics and computer generated electromagnetic fields to create light particle coherency, stimulation and expansion. The fields or auras of the concentrated light particles moving in structured manner are extended three to five inches beyond the actual physical molecules of the vitamin, mineral, nutrient and herb. The most important task is to place then extend field or aura of the nutrient to close proximity of your physical body.

Proof Is In the Testing

When vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs treated by the Tri-Vortex Chamber are placed adjacent to a glass of smooth smelling and tasting structured distilled water for 20 minutes to two hours, the taste of the water has a tangy texture as compared to the very smooth smelling and tasting distilled water treated by a normal Tri-Vortex Product. The tangy taste is caused by the light particles of the vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs being held by the distilled water. However, and most importantly, the tangy texture taste dissipates from the distilled water over a period of two hours because there are no Phosphorous molecules in the distilled water to absorb the light particles emitted from the vitamins, minerals and nutrients treated by the Tri-Vortex Chamber.

The treated vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs are first placed into two plastic one-inch square sealed baggies. The double plastic bagged vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs are then placed into a variety of containers that are worn on the body. The basic container is a black velvet bag that can be worn on a neck rope or chain or inserted into any clothing pocket or sock. Or the double plastic bags are inserted into amulets and lockets made of stainless steel, sterling silver and gold that also can be worn on a neck rope or chain or inserted into any clothing pocket. Before or after purchasing a Tri-Vibes pouch, the individual can choose their own container. However for maximum results, the container should be treated in the Tri-Vortex Technology treatment chamber and that service is available at an extra charge. Tri-Vibes are potent and versatile to meet the needs of you and your family.

The second component of Tri-Vibes is the person wears a snap band or a magnetic wrap on the right ankle. The person can also wear any kind of item or jewelry on the right ankle that has been treated in the Tri-Vortex Technology chamber. The double plastic bags of vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs, best worn anywhere on the left side of the body and the right ankle item, create the proper spin for light particle absorption. However, the double bags of vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs can be worn anywhere on the body with very positive results. But, a strong left spin motion is created when the plastic bags are located on the left side of the body and the ankle item is worn on the right side of the body.

The Tri-Vibes, containing miniscule yet very potent and proper amounts of vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs, do not have to be placed directly on the body to work but must be placed no more than one inch from the skin to be effective. Tri-Vibes are active and effective for a minimum of five years. Try a smell & taste test by placing an untreated liquid across the room. Hold a second glass of the same liquid in your right hand for 60 seconds and be amazed at the difference in the smell and taste.

The totally safe and effective Tri-Vibes can be applied directly to an area of discomfort or pain. Or the Tri-Vibes pouch or amulet can be simply wrapped in a tissue or paper towel and attached to the wrist, ankle, and chest or throat area by paper tape. The Tri-Vibes can be worn 24 hours a day and seven days a week because the light particles not absorbed by your cells will simply dissipate from your body over a two hour period. However, the minimum application to the body for maximum absorption of the light particles of the vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs is two hours.

A moving liquid creates an electromagnetic field therefore the blood and water in your body must transit at a rapid rate to create proper electromagnetic fields. The light particles emitted by the potent Tri-

Vibes are guided and distributed throughout your body by the electromagnetic fields of your entire body. The dynamic circulation of the blood and water in your body is dependent upon the level of hydration or the amount of structured distilled water you drink. For more information on the relationship of electromagnetic fields, blood and water flow and structured water, read the 56-page booklet by Brian David Andersen titled Super Hydrate & Charge Your Cells. The booklet is available free as a PDF file and a printed version can be purchased. Go to <http://trivortex.com/Super-Hydrate.pdf>

Any cell in your body can absorb the light particles emitted from the one-of-a-kind Tri-Vibes that are held by the liquids in your body or being guided and distributed by the electromagnetic fields of your body. Again, the Phosphorous sheaths surrounding the cells of your body will only allow in miniscule amounts of light particles in the vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs that are essential and needed by the cells to function properly.

A distributor of Tri-Vortex Technology (female) had a severe life threatening form of cancer. She and her doctors placed the cancerous condition into remission by various means and therapies that did not include Tri-Vortex Technology. The Medical Doctor treating the Tri-Vortex Technology distributor had the patient complete a special kind of blood test every three months that indicated the levels of nutrients in the body. The test places a small sample of a vitamin in the blood and, if the culture of the vitamin does or does not grow and expand, determines the level of the vitamin in the blood. The Tri-Vortex Technology distributor was orally taking high doses of vitamins and minerals but every blood test indicated her body was not absorbing the vitamins and minerals.

She decided on their own with no knowledge or prompting from any other person to stop taking the vitamins and nutrients orally. She only wore the Tri-Vibes items on her body for three months and then laboratory completed the quarterly blood test that amazed the Medical Doctor. All the patient's vitamin levels in the blood were pegged at the very top levels of the measurements. During the initial three months of wearing the Tri-Vibes, the patient also drank copious amounts of structured distilled water.

SpectraCell Laboratories conducted the blood tests that were researched and developed at the University of Texas. A small clinical study is being assembled to prove conclusively the effectiveness of the Tri-Vibes. Blood samples of persons from different age groups who both take and do not take vitamins orally will be tested before and after wearing the Tri-Vibes. The results of the clinical trial should be published sometime in the spring of 2010.

The reader must remember that the Tri-Vibes are an entirely new and revolutionary means of absorbing vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs. Even though there are small amounts of each vitamin, mineral, nutrient and herb in the Tri-Vibes, the light particles emitted and circulated throughout the body by the electromagnetic fields of the body are more than enough to provide proper levels of absorption. The Phosphorous sheaths of the cells only accept and transit those light particles of the vitamins, minerals, nutrients and herbs that are needed by the cell to maintain proper balance and function.
